An Unchanging Gospel In An Ever Changing World Part 1

By Kevin L. Berry

The 5th Annual Greater Midwest Lectureship is two-weeks away! I am so excited for the lectureship and I anticipate another great sermon series. This year's theme, “An Unchanging Gospel in an Ever Changing World” in my estimation, is a very timely message in our current world narrative. Our contemporary world with its various worldviews (to include Post-modernism, Secularism, and Humanism) is continually calling for adaptations, transformation, engineering and in some cases, abolishing of Biblical principles and teachings. A popular sentiment and contemporary worldview states, “we (modern man) have evolved in our thinking (and ethics/morality) and thus no longer need to subscribe and practice a Judeo/Christian worldview in reference to our ethical behavior nor in the traditional beliefs of God, Jesus Christ, the Bible and Christianity in general”.

Not only is there this secular philosophical narrative, but there is also in so-called “Christendom” the “religious narrative” that in order to reach the lost and save their souls, there must be a fundamental and ideological shift to think and incorporate in modern Christianity the notion, “man must not conform to the Bible; but rather the Bible must conform to man”. Put succinctly, since our world (that is the populous, in terms of morality, secular and social beliefs, philosophies and even religiously) is changing (and seemingly moving away from God) Christians should change as well and teach/preach a gospel that is codified to the current worldviews. Our preachers will address from the Holy Scriptures, these present worldviews and other related subject matters during the Greater Midwest Lectureship. We have assigned and scheduled for these gospel preachers, various subjects for them to offer up sound biblical refutations and doctrinal teachings concerning our contemporary times and issues. Our thesis statement for this year's lectureship is: To demonstrate that just as our Great and Awesome Holy God is immutable so is His Holy Word for us today (Hebrews 4:12-13)! Our preachers will address the salient Biblical truth that it is man who must change to be like Christ and not the notion that the gospel needs to be modified and changed to appease contemporary man. (To be continued in next week's bulletin)
